

JONATHAN
FERRARA
 gallery

The Jonathan Ferrara Gallery is proud to present “The Skylar Fein Show”, a solo exhibition by Skylar Fein. The exhibition will be on view from April 25 through May 19, with an opening reception on Saturday, May 3, from 6 -10pm at Jonathan Ferrara Gallery, 400a Julia Street, in the New Orleans Arts District.

“The Skylar Fein Show” is a socially charged exhibition of works using imagery and icons that refer to the ethics of a remembered, imagined, or possibly lost New Orleans. In this much anticipated solo exhibition by one of Louisiana’s acclaimed “rising art stars”, Fein reaches beyond New Orleans and Louisiana and addresses the United States as a whole, drawing attention to the peculiarities of our societal make-up that describe who we are today. His imagery draws from popular and subcultural icons, including presidential silhouettes, American flags, Miss America, Jean Paul Sartre, Andy Warhol, and Julian Schnabel.

Skylar Fein. “Black Flag (Elizabeth’s)” Wood, plaster, acrylic – 43.5 x 72 x 1.25”

Skylar Fein is one of the featured artists to in this upcoming Prospect 1: New Orleans Biennial, organized by internationally renowned curator Dan Cameron. His work is in several private and public collections including The Louisiana State Museum.

“The Skylar Fein Show” will be on exhibit from April 25 through May 31, 2008 with an artist’s reception on Saturday, May 3, from 6 -10pm at Jonathan Ferrara Gallery, 400a Julia Street, New Orleans, 70130. For images or more information, please contact gallery director Mia Kaplan, at 504-522-5471 or via e-mail: mia@jonathanferraragallery.com.